Eternal Blessings from our beloved Chairman

MJF. Ln. LEO MUTHU

Founder Chairman
Sairam Group of Institutions

You are the one to limit your greatness! Everyone wants to achieve a certain sense of momentum in life which would be helping you in living a life of your dreams! The kind of education acquired in your own "Sairam Campus" is a tool, now thrusting you towards success and happiness. Always remember that life is of colossal opportunities. Still strive hard to serve your fellow men bigger and better.

Chairman's Message

Greetings! Tech - Savvy environment afloats friendship to the highest level and you share and shine. Even then, there is no parallel feeling to home coming. We are extremely elated to embrace each one of you for being the pride of our prestigious institution, which upholds the vision of our Founder Chairman, MJF. Ln. Leo Muthu and the people's leader, Shri. APJ. Abdul Kalam. Today the institution marches ahead sighting global standards means each one of your belongingness is the reason. When we honestly ask ourselves which person in our lives mean the most to us, we often find that it is those who, instead of giving advice, solutions or cures, have chosen rather to share our pain and touch our wounds with a warm and tender hand. The friend who can be silent with us in a moment of confusion, who can stay with us in a moment of despair, who can stay with us in an hour of grief bereavements, who can tolerate not knowing, not curing, not healing and face with us the reality of our powerlessness, that is a friend who cares. 'Friend' is the positive and the most powerful word. This reunion shall open new vistas of life in your campus which united you all, always will keep you all united.

Sai Prakash LeoMuthu
Chairman & CEO
Sairam Institutions

AKALYA VAISHAALI A V, MBA 2013

HR Generalist and Recruiter in iGen Systems

Earning your Master of Business Administration (MBA) degree will give you the skills and knowledge necessary for business success, and it requires a lot of time and effort on your part.

Create Short term goals to achieve long term goals: Setting short-term goals can help you stay focused on upcoming projects and assignments; long-term goals are a great way to stay motivated throughout your degree program.

Create Good Study Habits: Your study habits can include where you study, how to approach it, and how much time you spend on it. Your study habits might include spending a certain amount of time each day reviewing what you have learned and making sure you keep distractions to a minimum, such as turning off your phone while studying.

Time Management: Being able to manage your time helps ensure you to complete the stipulated work on time and keep up with class lectures. Falling behind on your classes can make it difficult to do well in your MBA program. Keep in mind that managing your time might be a more challenging if you are working full time

Don't be Complacent: As a MBA student you might have access to conference and other events that fit into your career goal. These can provide opportunities to learn more about the kind of work you wanted to do with your MBA degree. You will have more opportunities to network with professional in your industry, which can lead to more job or business opportunities.

Stay positive, do career research, find time for relaxation and create bench mark to measure your success (not with your class mates).

AMIRTHA ANSA JEYARAJ, MBA 2023

Assistant professor, Bharath Institute of Higher Education and Research

As an alumna reflecting on my time as a management student, I can offer several key insights that might help current students excel. Mastering time management is essential; organizing your schedule effectively and prioritizing tasks can make a significant difference in handling academic and extracurricular demands. Building a strong professional network is invaluable—attend seminars, engage in clubs, and connect with peers and faculty to open doors for future opportunities. Effective communication skills, including public speaking, writing, and active listening, are fundamental and should be continuously refined. Real-world experience is a game-changer; internships and part-time roles in management provide practical knowledge that complements theoretical learning. Staying updated on industry trends through regular reading and research ensures you remain competitive and informed. Emphasize critical thinking and problem-solving by participating in case studies and simulations, which are crucial for tackling real business challenges. Embrace teamwork and leadership roles in group projects, as they build collaborative and managerial skills. Adaptability is another vital trait, given the dynamic nature of management roles, requiring flexibility and the ability to navigate unforeseen challenges. Upholding ethical standards in decision-making establishes credibility and trustworthiness in your professional life. Financial literacy, including budgeting and financial analysis, is a useful skill set that will serve you well. Proficiency in digital tools and management software is increasingly important in today's tech-driven environment. Planning your career path with clear goals and seeking mentorship can provide direction and insight. Cultural competence and understanding diverse business practices enrich your ability to work in global contexts. Lastly, maintaining a healthy work-life balance is crucial to avoid burnout and ensure long-term success. Seek constructive feedback to improve continuously and reflect on your experiences to learn and grow. Integrating these strategies will prepare you for a rewarding career in management.

SRINATH RATHNAVELU, MBA 2015

Business Analyst, Tata Consultancy Services

For management students aiming to excel in their studies and future careers, several strategies can be particularly beneficial.

Firstly, developing strong communication skills is crucial, as management roles often require clear and effective interactions with teams and stakeholders.

Time management is another essential skill; balancing coursework, projects, and internships can be demanding, so prioritizing tasks and setting deadlines is key. Networking should not be overlooked; building relationships with peers, professors, and industry professionals can open doors to opportunities and mentorship.

Staying updated with industry trends and developments through journals, seminars, and online courses helps in understanding the dynamic nature of business. Practical experience, such as internships or part-time jobs, provides valuable insights into real-world management challenges. Critical thinking and problem-solving abilities are vital for making informed decisions.

Lastly, cultivating a global perspective by learning about different cultures and international business practices can give students an edge in today's interconnected world.
